

Best Gifts for Gadget-Lovers

Gadgets are getting ever smaller, more versatile, and more ingenious. I have a huge collection, and I continue to accumulate more each year. If you are wondering what to get for your gadget-loving friends, here are five terrific gift ideas:

1. Turn your iPod into a portable stereo with the JBL On-Tour Speaker System (street price: $100). These speakers fold up to the size of a paperback book, yet they sound amazing. They also work with MP3 players and laptop computers.
http://www.jbl.com/home/products/product_detail.asp?ProdId=ONTOUR&SerId=HMM&sCatId=
2. The new Lexar JumpDrive TouchGuard (street price: $80) is not just another USB flash drive for portable data storage – it actually uses your own fingerprint to keep your data safe, including all your passwords and website favorites.
http://www.lexar.com/jumpdrive/jd_touchguard.html
3. The iGo Juice (street price: $100) can power your notebook, your PDA, your phone, and just about any other electronic device you own. With the right accessories, you can power two devices at once, not only in the office but also in a car or on a plane.
http://www.igo.com/Product_Detail.asp?ProductCode=MOB+PS0055-11
4. The Logitech Mobile Freedom Headset (street price: $60) is a wireless headset for Bluetooth-enabled cell phones. Leave your phone in your pocket – answer calls by pressing a button on the headset. With voice-dialing, you can make calls the same way, without bothering to pull out your phone. Best of all, no more tangled cords!
<http://www.logitech.com/index.cfm/products/details/US/EN,CRID=1628,CONTENTID=9502>

5. The Evoluent Vertical Mouse 2 (street price: $70) has received numerous awards for its unique design. The unusual sideways handshake position makes it far more comfortable than a normal mouse, great for those of us who spend a lot of time at the computer.
<http://www.evolutent.com>

All of these gadgets can be purchased online, at sites like Amazon.com and Buy.com. Visit <http://www.shopping.com> to find the best prices. Happy shopping!